Resources for a Mission and Outreach Event

SUITABLE FOR COASTAL CHURCHES

CALMING THE STORM AT HOME,
IN PORT AND AT SEA.

WELCOME

Welcome to this resources pack for Sailors' Society's Sea Sunday 2022 and on behalf of seafarers everywhere, I would like to thank you for your support. This pack is being offered to coastal churches and provides an opportunity for you to offer an inclusive mission and outreach event around Sea Sunday 2022.

The aim is to allow as many people as possible to learn about the work of both seafarers and Sailors' Society and to raise vital funds to support seafarers in need. It is also to provide an opportunity for you, as a church family, to reach out to your local community and visitors to your area.

The 2022 Sea Sunday theme is: 'Calming the storm at home, in port and at sea'.

We have taken our inspiration from Matthew's telling of the story of Jesus calming the storm, reminding us not only of the power of faith but of the unpredictability of life and how storms can beset us all.

As the leading charity for the welfare and wellbeing of seafarers and their families worldwide, we help calm the storms facing seafarers at home, in port and at sea.

Storms can be global – Ukraine, record tsunamis and the Covid pandemic. Or they can be individual – sickness, unemployment, and bereavement.

Our chaplains and family support workers reach out to thousands of seafarers and their loved ones every month helping whatever the storm. They reach out a hand of friendship and pastoral care, as well as helping with practical matters like phone cards and shopping. We are a listening ear – and remind them how valued they are. We provide a 24-hour helpline, peer-to-peer support groups and a range of easily accessible grants.

We also calm some of the storms before they start.

Sailors' Society leads the way with its pioneering Wellness at Sea programme, providing comprehensive wellness support and training for seafarers and their companies.

Our community projects support seafarers and their families at home with health clinics, community ambulances and library boats.

We have been there, in the storms, for more than 200 years, providing spiritual, welfare and educational support to seafarers. This year, Sea Sunday will be officially marked on July 10, but you can celebrate using this pack anytime during the summer as suits your church programme.

We are delighted to connect with you to bring hope and transformation into the lives of seafarers and their families.

Thank you once again and God bless,

Sara Baade

RESOURCES FOR A MISSION AND OUTREACH EVENT

SUITABLE FOR COASTAL CHURCHES

Today, church outreach goes beyond the normal routine of attending church. Churches have become more creative in their mission. We all know that it is one thing to invite a friend to church, but it is much easier to invite a friend to a community activity. As a coastal church, you have the perfect venue to celebrate Sea Sunday 2022 with old and new friends alike. A beach or quayside picnic is the perfect time to invite your community and visitors to a low-pressure social activity where people can be outside, enjoying conversation, fun activities and, of course, food.

It is also the perfect opportunity to highlight the work of Sailors' Society with seafarers and their families as part of a celebration of Sea Sunday that is open to all.

Eating together.

Plan your picnic.

Set the food out on tables and lay out rugs and chairs in groups to encourage people on the beach to join you.

Start with a simple Grace.

Activities

Create a timetable of activities in advance that is available for everyone to see on the day, so they know what is happening when.

This pack has a series of activities for all the family that you can pick and choose from.

Worship

Plan the time of worship towards the end of this event when everyone has got to know each other.

An all-age talk and prayers as well as suitable hymns are available in this pack.

Remember

- A suitable venue such as a public beach or quayside (if you are holding this at the latter you may need to seek permission from a local authority)
- Bring a portable sound system for announcements and background worship music
- Bring and share picnic
 - Make sure the food is labelled for potential allergies*
- Children's seaside buckets and spades/or cardboard boxes for the ship building competition.
- Binoculars or telescopes
- Rugs, chairs and tables
- Material for family activities and crafts (see below and don't forget water and hand sanitiser for hand washing)
- Posters advertising the event, location and time
- Collection buckets or boxes clearly marked 'Sailors' Society'
- Rubbish bags or bins

For the interactive prayers:

Ship prayers

Make paper ships either from the template at www.sailors-society.org/seasunday22 or create a simple folded paper ship.

Wave prayers

Have blue and green wavy strips of paper to hand, children can write their prayers along the waves and stick them on a big collage.

Pebble prayers

Pebbles if your beach does not have them readily available.

SEA SUNDAY FAMILY ACTIVITIES

PLEASE ENSURE ADULTS SUPERVISE ALL ACTIVITIES

FOR ALL THE FAMILY

The Big Ship Build competition

- Sign up family 'teams' (the key is to involve all ages in this)
- Then, using buckets and spades, get them to create a ship out of sand on the beach
- If you are on the quayside, you can bring some cardboard boxes along and get them to make their ship out of these
- The best ship wins a prize

How many ships can you see at sea?

- Using binoculars or a telescope, look out to sea and count how many ships you can see.
- Now try to think of all the things that might be on board the ships.
- What comes to us by sea?

If you are by a harbour count the boats moored there, or the ones coming in or out, but still ask the questions about the big ships.

GET EVERYONE INVOLVED

If you have the space, why not play a game? You will need the sound system for this and make sure you invite anyone to play along.

Port and Starboard

This is a game based on the theme of a ship captain and their crew and would act as a good introduction to the theme of seafarers.

One person is the captain, the rest are crew members. The captain (leader) gives out one of the set orders listed below. The crew (children) then do the matching actions.

- Port: Everyone runs to the left of the playing area or room
- Starboard: Everyone runs to the right of the playing area or room
- Bow: Everyone runs to the front of the playing area or room
- Stern: Everyone runs to the back of the playing area or room
- Man overboard: Children lie on their back and waggle arms and legs in the air
- Captain's coming: Children salute and shout "Aye aye captain"
- Climb the ladder (or climb the rigging): Children pretend to climb a ladder
- Crow's nest: Put hands above eyebrows and look out to sea
- Sweep the decks: Children pretend to clean the floor
- To the lifeboats: (If you have a group of players) Get into groups of three, hold hands and sit down
- Boat sinking: All children sit down as fast as they can.
- Make up some actions of your own!

Drip, Drip, Storm

This is not for the faint-hearted! Play this the same way as you would Duck, Duck, Goose, but have a small cup of water. The person who is 'up' drips a tiny bit of water onto each person's head saying 'drip.' When they decide who they want to be chased by, they say 'storm' and pour what is left in the cup on the chosen person's head!

SEA SUNDAY FAMILY ACTIVITIES

- Fold the bottom edges up to create a boat

Have these available for people to write a prayer on.
Put the boats in the water.

SHORT ALL-AGE TALK SUITABLE FOR A MISSION AND OUTREACH EVENT CELEBRATING SEA SUNDAY 2022

You can either gather the children together to tell them this story or open it up to everyone to listen.

'Calming the storm at home, in port and at sea.'

Our Gospel story tells us all about a day when Jesus and his disciples found themselves in the middle of a big storm.

Do you remember the storms we had earlier this year?
It was really windy and wet, wasn't it?

The wind blew and blew, and the rain came down and down and by the sea the waves crashed onto the shore.
Did you sleep through it?

Well Jesus slept through the storm he and the disciples found themselves in.

Can you imagine that?

You can tell this story yourself or get others to help you act it out...

They were on a boat in the sea of Galilee when a great storm blew up out of nowhere.

And the waves buffeted the boat, and the wind blew...
(Get the children and grown-ups to rock as if they were in a boat and make the sound of the wind).

And it rained...
(Wiggle fingers up and down to illustrate rain).

The disciples were afraid - but Jesus still slept...

Jesus stood up and commanded the wind, "Be quiet!"
(Get everyone to stop making a noise).

And he said to the waves, "Be still!"
(Get everyone to stop rocking).

Jesus calmed the storm down completely.

The disciples were no longer afraid of drowning because the wind died down and the sea was calm.

But you know what? This story was retold, and retold, and retold and then written down in the Gospels, not just to show what power Jesus had over the storm in the sea of Galilee.

No, it was to let us know that Jesus has the power to calm the storms in our lives.

And by storms, we mean the things that make us afraid or sad.

And sometimes he does this by sending people to help make things better.

Today is Sea Sunday and today we say thank you to seafarers.

Seafarers are people who work on really big ships. Some work on the decks in all weather, others oversee steering the ship or keeping the engine running.

These ships help bring us almost everything we buy and use, like cars, phones, clothes, and food. All coming by sea from other countries.

But this means that seafarers can be at sea for many months; during the pandemic, some were on their ships for 17 months or more.

They miss seeing their families and birthdays go past without them being at home.

So, as well as facing real storms, scary storms with huge waves that can make even their huge ships roll about, huge storms that are very frightening for those on board a ship...

As well as facing those storms, seafarers face the sort of storms we can recognise from our own lives.

Sadness, fear, loneliness.

Covid has meant they have been trapped in one place unable to get out and see friends. But for them, it's worse.

SHORT ALL-AGE TALK SUITABLE FOR A MISSION AND OUTREACH EVENT CELEBRATING SEA SUNDAY 2022

They aren't with any of their families in their lockdown and they are at sea so often they can't get a signal or Wi-Fi so they can't Facetime, or even text family and friends. And their lockdown is still going on.

Imagine being a Ukrainian seafarer unable to speak to your family caught up in the war there?

And their families are also facing storms in their lives. Many are very poor, some must travel across the sea to get to school, others do not have easy access to doctors or hospitals.

But remember I said that Jesus sends people to help calm the storms?

Well, seafarers are lucky because they have Sailors' Society.

Sailors' Society helps seafarers and their families cope with the storms in their lives. The charity helps them with the aftermath of real storms that can cause shipwrecks, but also with the things in their lives that can make them feel like they are in a storm. Whether that is being away from home, not being able to contact their family, Covid or the war in Ukraine.

Sailors' Society is here for seafarers in lots of different ways, providing them with things that they need.

The charity can help them when they get caught up in real storms and are shipwrecked, they can help them get back home safely.

The Society also has a team of chaplains, Christian men and women who are a bit like church ministers, who visit seafarers on their ships. They are a friend, someone to talk to and to share problems with, and the seafarers look forward to seeing them.

They help them stay in touch with their families by giving them SIM cards and Wi-Fi. They cheer them up with treats like chocolate or a McDonalds when they are in port. They are also here to listen to them and hear their problems and worries. They can offer woolly hats and blankets to keep them warm at sea and bibles to read, and sometimes they pray with them too.

Sailors' Society runs special training to help seafarers cope with being away from home for so long.

It also helps the families of seafarers when things go wrong while the seafarer is away at sea and helps their children too, making sure they can get to school and learn. Did you know that in the Philippines some children have to go across the sea to get to school? For these children, the school bus is actually a school boat provided by Sailors' Society.

Seafarers are often forgotten about because they work at sea, but they have a really hard job. Sailors' Society is helping seafarers because they want to show them God's love and care and help calm the storms in their lives.

So, remember Jesus can calm the storms in our lives, however big or small. We shouldn't be like the disciples, surprised by Jesus and what he can do for us.

And we shouldn't be surprised when he sends that help by other people... like when Sailors' Society helps seafarers with the storms in their lives.

Or when he asks us to help those people by supporting their work.

We can help support Sailors' Society and we are doing so today by giving them the collection from today's service. But we could also make them our Link Charity for the Year. And we could all do our bit, by making individual donations or planned giving.

We can also share their stories with others spreading the word by following the Society on social media.

And today we give thanks for seafarers and the work of Sailors' Society in their lives and thank the Lord that he is with us calming the storms in all our lives. Amen.

HOW CAN YOU HELP CALM THE STORMS IN THE LIVES OF SEAFARERS?

You can practically support seafarers in several ways:

Pray:

Let them know you are doing it by telling us on Facebook or Twitter (@SailorsSociety). We will share this with seafarers so that seafarers can know you are thinking of them. It is a great way of showing seafarers that they're not alone.

Volunteer:

Would you be interested in meeting seafarers face-to-face by ship visiting? We would love to hear from you if you would consider giving your time to this valuable role (023 8051 5950 or enquiries@sailors-society.org).

Give:

The generosity of our donors means we can put chaplains in 87 ports around the world. You can give towards the work of Sailors' Society in several ways:

Your Sea Sunday collection:

Many churches choose to take up a collection and donate to Sailors' Society after marking Sea Sunday. If you would like gift aid envelopes for your congregation please contact us on 023 8051 5950.

Making Sailors' Society your Link Charity:

Many churches nominate a charity to link to. Some do this annually, others for an indefinite period. They hold fundraising events specifically for their Link Charity or set aside part of their charitable giving to donate to them. We would be delighted to be your Link Charity and can provide a range of fundraising materials as well as offer speakers and other resources.

Individual Giving:

There are two ways you can do this:

- You can donate online at www.sailors-society.org/give
- Or write a cheque made out to Sailors' Society and post to:
Sea Sunday, Sailors' Society, 74 St Annes Road,
Southampton, SO19 9FF

YOUR DONATION CAN PROVIDE A LIFELINE FOR SEAFARERS IN NEED. HERE'S HOW YOUR DONATION CAN HELP:

£20 could help provide a gift of data so that a seafarer can call home.

£155

could help to fund a chaplain for a week to visit seafarers in port.

£500

could provide an emergency package of support to an abandoned crew – including chaplain visits, Wi-Fi, fresh food, warm clothes and other essentials.
